PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S POSITION.

President Cleveland's reply to the dele men's organizations who visited him at the White House yesterday to ask him to appoint a Commission to investigate vailroad strike, under authority of the act of 1888, clearly defines the position of the Administration in the present troubles.

The President will appoint such a Commission and will name the arbitra tors forthwith. But a condition prece dent to their action is the restoration peace and order, so as to render a careful, thoughtful investigation possi

WELCOME, UTAH.

WELCOME, UTAH.

The political astronomers at the Congressional observatory have added an other star to Old Giory's galaxy. The House yesterday concurred in the Senate amendments to the bill for the admission of Utan, and this passes the bill. It now only needs the President's signature, which will of course be given, to array Utah in the glory of Statehood.

Well, the Descret of the Mormons has had a lively experience since the Saints were driven from Illinois and settled down in the beautiful region on the borders of Sait Lake. The Territory has witnessed some exciting scenes and has supplied the politicians with some capital as well as causing them some trouble. At one time the Republican leaders hoped to make as much out of the "twin riclic" as out of slavery itself, but for many years the legislation against the evils and usurpations of Mormonism was uncertain and marked by cowardice in both parties.

Utah now comes as one of our sisters, and will be welcome as the forty-fifth member of the family.

A delightful despatch from Washingon yesterday stated, in effect, that if it wer n't for the sugar, coal, iron and a few other schedules on which differences of opinion existed, the tariff conferrees uld speedily reach an agreement. In other words, if there were no serious efforts at reform to be made the work of "tariff reform" would go on smoothly and unimpededly in the conference. This

One consideration which makes the public desire a settlement of the labor troubles is their anxiety to see if the Government will then display the promptness, vigor and firmness in dealing with railroad and sugar magnates that it has shown in dealing with the Chicago emergency.

The French heel has not exactly kept pace with modern buildings in the cloud-piercing business. It comes pretty high, but there is always plenty of room in the upper air, and it may soar higher still. The accident to Mrs. Doherty should show shoemakers a new use to which the French heel can be put.

If it is made thin and long enough, the ladies who wear Loole Kanz shoes may olp their heels in the cable siot, catch them on the cable and soot up and down the Broadway tracks at their ease.
